PROPOSALS

For Publishing, by Subscription,

THE COMPLETE WORKS OF

SIR WALTER SCOTT:

With a Biography: being the first American (and only) edition which contains the Author's last additions and illustrations, arranged upon their respective pages.

A COMPLETE and uniform edition of the various productions of the great 'Minstrel of the North,' is a desideratum with the American public. No library is complete without them, and no edition extant is sufficiently compact for such a repository; while the endless number of editions, without any uniformity in size, heretofore published, besides being exceedingly cumbrous, are far too voluminous and expensive to be within the reach of the great majority of readers. The undersigned therefore announce, that they have now in press, and will issue, an edition of the Works of Sir Walter Scott, which will embrace all his Poems, Novels, Histories, Biographies, and Fugitive Compositions, as well as the Biography and Private Correspondence, now in the course of publication in England, under the superintendence of Mr. Lockhart.

1st. In Parts: each Part embracing as much matter as is contained in two volumes of the present editions of the Waverley Novels, which will be put at the unprecedented low price of THIRTY SEVEN AND A HALF CENTS.

2d. Two parts will appear each month; but should the publishers find the work to meet the patronage they anticipate, FOUR PARTS will be issued monthly.

3d. The whole will be completed in seven volumes, or forty eight parts.

The paper on which the above is now printing, has been made expressly for the purpose; the present parts may, therefore, be considered a fair specimen, in every respect, of the whole work; but, should dissatisfaction arise with any subscriber, owing to an inferior article being offered, he may discontinue at any time, and have the amount paid returned.

Note.—The publication of the first volume is deferred until the receipt of the Biography, Private Correspondence, and the New Edition of the Author's Poetical Works, with 'contemporary criticism—various readings—and correspondence with some of the most eminent persons of the time when the Poems first appeared,' now in the course of publication in England.

Volume I will be ornamented with an excellent Portrait of Sir Walter Scott.

DAILY PITTSBURGH GAZETTE.

THURSDAY AFTERNOON, SEPT. 12, 1833.

THE PUBLIC BUILDINGS.—We have hitherto said but little in relation to the law passed upon this subject, during the last session of the legislature. We have, so far, refrained from entering into a discussion of the merits of this law, because we have not been able to understand, precisely, the objections to it; we did not wish to battle in the dark, and run the risk of finding that we were contending for what was admitted on all hands to be correct.

To prevent all misapprehension on this subject, and to ascertain precisely what difference of opinion existed between the different candidates for the legislature, we some time since proposed some questions as to the views of the candidates running in opposition to the old members. We asked whether these candidates were opposed to the erection of a court house in some other place than the Diamond, or whether they were determined to have no other court house than the present one. We asked whether these candidates were opposed to the erection of a new jail, or whether they were determined that the city of Pittsburgh and the county of Allegheny should have no other jail than that which has so often been presented as a nusance. To these questions no answer has been given. There is, to be sure, in the last Mercury, a communication, written by we know not whom, containing a declaration that the writer was in favor of a new jail, to be erected on the public lot, on Wayne street. This writer had not the hardihood to insist upon confining prisoners, whether for crime or misfortune, in that filthy place, now called the jail; this would have been too barefaced, but then he insists that it should be built on Wayne street. He may have some good reasons for preferring that place; other persons might suppose that some other place might suit better; other persons might think it more advisable to sell that lot which will now bring a great deal of money, and select another site for a jail, or for a jail and court house. They might, very reasonably, suppose that if the commissioners must build either another jail, or another jail and court house, that they should have the power to exercise their best judgment in the selection of a site, and not be confined to a particular spot. The commissioners are a part of the people, are elected by the people, and are responsible to the people; surely, then, it was better that they should have the power to select, rather than be confined to a lot which the county happens to own.—Such, no donbt, was the opinion entertained by the legislature, when the following section, being the only law on the subject, was passed:—

SECTION 2. And be it further enacted, by the authority aforesaid, That the commissioners of Allegheny county, be, and they are hereby authorised and empowered (after at least thirty days public notice previously given in all the newspapers published in Allegheny county) to sell, dispose of, and convey, for the highest and best price that can be obtained for the same, either at public or private sale, the whole or any part of the real estate belonging to the said county of Allegheny, and lying, and being situate in said county, and a good and sufficient deed or deeds of conveyance, in fee simple, to make to the purchaser or purchasers of the same. And the said deed or deeds of conveyance being duly acknowledged before some officer authorized to take the acknowledgment of deeds, shall vest in the purchaser or purchasers of said real estate all the interest and title of said county of Allegheny in and to the same. And the moneys arising from such sale or sales shall be by the said commissioners applied to the purchase of ground in the city of Pittsburgh, and the erection of suitable buildings thereon, for the use of said county of Allegheny—Provided, that the county prison shall be erected on the plan of separate confinement of prisoners. And the said commissioners shall, for the faithful expenditure of said moneys, account to the auditors of said county, in the same manner as they are by law obliged to account for the expenditure of all other public moneys.

Here our readers will perceive that there is nothing imperative in the law; the Commissioners are not required or commanded to sell the public property, they are merely authorised and empowered to sell the whole, or such part as they may think advisable and proper. They are not required to erect either a new Jail or new Court House; and, even in case they should sell, they are not bound to erect all the necessary buildings for the use of the county. They are merely required to apply the proceeds of the sale, in case they should sell, to the erection of buildings, suitable for said county. It is required that the buildings erected shall be suitable. They might erect two buildings, one for female and the other for male prisoners—or, one for prisoners accused of crime, and another for prisoners confined for debt—or, they might erect a prison and a dwelling, for the Jailor, separately—or a prison, with the necessary privies—or a prison and Court House, if they should think it advisable, either of these courses would be a full compliance with the law. Such is the whole tenor and purport of this law, about which so much noise has been made. We copy it, that our readers may know what this clamor is about.

For the Gazette.

MR. CRAIG—In your Gazette, of the 10th inst., a correspondent notices "that the enterprizing merchants of New York have formed a line of packets between that city and Natchez." Similar arrangements have been made in Liverpool, and it is expected that Philadelphia will follow the example. Much credit is due to the merchants and planters of Mississippi for their public spirit, and exertions to facilitate the entrance of ships, and provide return cargoes, at less expense and risk than could be effected at New Orleans. By this commercial intercourse, they will be enabled to realize the natural advantages possessed by Natchez, as a healthy place, and more convenient outlet for the staple productions of the State, where supplies can be had in return, on the most favorable terms. —The Mississippi affords sufficient depth of water for ships to come up at all times.

Your correspondent inquires if any foreign goods had been landed at our custom house, and remarks that Steam Boats arrive here from New Orleans spring and fall.

In reply, I would enquire whether any vessel from sea has ever arrived at Pittsburgh? and whether our Revenue Laws will permit any vessel from sea, to unload part of her cargo into steam boats, without entering or giving bonds at the custom house of the seaport where bound. This being impossible, it only remains for our merchant importers to choose between New Orleans and Natchez for the entry of their goods; their good sense, and regard to their own interest, will soon induce them to give the preference to which of the two ports present the most advantages.

A LOOKER ON.

COMMUNICATED.

The Lawrenceville temperance association, held a monthly meeting on Tuesday evening, the 10th inst., in the basement of St. John's church, at which, after an animated discussion, the following preamble and resolutions were unanimously passed, viz:—

WHEREAS, in the opinion of this association, the very root of the prevailing intemperance of our country, as well as the cause of the deadly torpor or inefficiency, which seems for the present, to have laid a paralizing hold upon the temperance associations of the neighboring city; and, indeed, of the state at large, is to be found in the facility with which tavern licenses, and those for the retail of ardent spirits are obtained, and the consequent alarming and unparalleled increase of tipling shops throughout the state, and especially within our daily observation.

Therefore, Resolved, That a committee of three members be appointed, to take into consideration the state of the temperance cause in this village and its vicinity, and to recommend, by the next monthly meeting, such measures as it may be advisable for this association to adopt, by way of petition or otherwise, for the suppression of tippling shops, and the maintenance of that due proportion of comfortable and wholesome accommodation for the traveler, which the existing laws, in their letter and spirit, alone sanction.

Resolved, That the proceedings of this meeting be offered to the city papers for publication, signed by the president and secretary.

ROBERT WALLACE, Pres't.
ALFRED BECKLEY, Sec'y.

Geo. Washington.—This splendid steam boat entered our harbor, for the first time, on Sunday evening last; she is truly a magnificent boat; and by far superior to any vessel of the kind which has heretofore sailed Lake Erie. She is 180 feet long, 29 feet wide, and carries 605 tons. In addition to a number of state rooms, she has three cabins, which, for taste, neatness, and splendor, are not, we venture to assert, surpassed by any boat in the United States. The number of berths is 166. She is propelled by two low pressure engines of 100 horse power each. These, together with the other necessary apparatus, were manufactured at Pittsburgh, and cost, we understand, about twenty three thousand dollars. The transportation alone of the machinery, we are informed, cost about three thousand dollars.

This boat was built at Huron, by the 'Huron Steam Boat Company,' under the supervision of Capt. Walker. She is of a handsome model, and constructed in a substantial and workmanlike manner, which reflects honor upon the architect, and does credit, not only to the place at which it was erected, but to the enterprize and public spirit of the individuals at whose instance it was constructed. We have not learned that the Washington is to run in any regular line of boats. Indeed, she is a line of herself.—Cleveland Herald.

Diamond cut Diamond.—Several years since there lived in a neighboring city, two gentlemen, of one of the twelve tribes of Israel. Wallack was a dealer in military goods, and Benjamin a trafficker in lace. The latter had been chosen a military officer, and proceeded to the store of the former, to purchase equipments for his person, according to law in such case made and provided. On payment of his bill, Wallack took out his pocket book to return change. As it lay open on the desk, Benjamin perceived that it contained a lottery ticket, the numbers thereon inscribed he did not fail carefully to notice. On his return he stepped into a lottery office, and to his surprize learnt that these numbers had just come up a prize of $10,000. Before the close of the same day, he visited the armory a second time for the purchase of articles which he had previously forgotten. Payment was again tendered, the pocket book again opened, and the prize a second time exhibited to view. "Ah! Monsieur Vallack, vot you got there, von ticket in the lottery? I mean to buy von, but forgot. I shall be too happy to take yours and give de price." "No, no, Mons. Benjamin, I cannot tell how much he draw." "I give you fifteen." "No." "I give you twenty—I have set my heart on buying von ticket in this lottery, but I forgot." "No, dat would be too much sacrifice; may be it draw more money, and I should look like fool."—"I give fifty." "No, I will sell this ticket for von hundred dollar bill, Boston bank. I will not take cent less." "Oh, (with a deep sigh,) I am too sorry I did not buy von ticket in dis lottery. But I must have it." Benjamin with great reluctance drew the hundred dollar note from his wallet, and received the ticket in exchange. When it was fairly pocketed, Benjamin clapped the other on the shoulder, and, with a sly wink, said, "Ah, hah, Mons. Vallack, I have got you now, dis ticket is just draw ten thousand dollar!" Wallack returned the slap, and replied,—"Not quite, Mons. Benjamin—look at the clash, look at the clash, my dear!" The ticket was a blank of the preceding class of the same lottery!—N. Y. Gaz.

Western Reserve College.—The Annual Comment of this Institution took place on the 28th ult., at Hudson. The degree of A. B. was conferred upon the following persons, viz: R. Dudley, L. Gilbert, J. Loughead, H. H. Spaulding, M. Sutliff, J. G. Wilson and P. Wright. We learn from the Observer and Telegraph, that Professor Wright has tendered his resignation, and that the Board have unanimously accepted the same.

An unfortunate state of things, we regret to state, has for some time existed at this institution, which has done much to impair its usefulness, and bring it into disrepute. An undue excitement has been created by a discussion of the subject of slavery, in which the Professors have been warmly enlisted. Indeed too much so for their own good, the good of society, or of the blacks themselves. The excitement has been carried to such an extent, that all harmony in the social circle is destroyed; and an institution which should be the pride of the state, instead of being a seat of learning, has become one of party feuds.

The Board, we learn, will, with as little delay as possible, fill the vacancies. A new organization may restore the confidence of the community. We sincerely hope that this institution, which is so favorably located, and which went into operation under circumstances so auspicious, when relieved from the "malign influences" under which it has, for some time past labored, may yet beneficially subserve the great and important purpose for which it was instituted, and become as celebrated for its usefulness as it has been for its devotion to the negro question.—Cleveland Her.

Execution.—Le Blanc, the murderer, was executed on Friday, at Morristown, New Jersey, at a quarter past 12 o'clock. He was apparently resigned to his fate. The green in that place, where the execution took place, was crowded with spectators. It is calculated that no less than 12,000 persons were present, of which the majority were females.—Poulson.

Late from Jamaica.—By an arrival at Baltimore, we are in possession of files of the Jamaica Courant to the 17th of August, inclusive. On the receipt of the bill in the British Parliament, relative to the emancipation of the negroes, the Editor says—

"We wish we could say that they were satisfactory to the Colonists. We shall not, however, say a word until our "bill" has received the sanction of the Imperial Parliament. We are weak, and the British nation know it, or they would not dare to rob us of what they compelled us to declare to be "property." We are subjects of William IV. —We are loyal; and although we hate spoliation, our resources deprived us of the means of successful resistance! All we want is fair and impartial justice; and when that is awarded to the extent which has been promised, we are prepared to meet it cordially. But if we are once deceived, we must trust to ourselves. The smallest meed of compensation we are ready, under the present state of the Mother Country, to receive as a composition; and we trust, for the honor of the British name, that we shall neither be disappointed nor betrayed. We await the issue."

Lord Mulgrave, on the 16th ultimo, prorogued the General Assembly of Jamaica, to the 3d of September. The object of the prorogation doubtless was, to fix the meeting at a sufficient period in advance to receive and act upon the act of parliament relative to the slaves. The Editor of the Courant intimates in no doubtful strain, that the act of the Ministry will bring ruin upon the West India Colonies—that they will have to be considered as one Grand Bankrupt Estate, that every creditor of the inhabitants of the British Isles must be content with twenty per cent. of his debt!

A magnificent present has been made by his Holiness Pope Gregory XVI. to Sir Edward Thomasson of Birmingham. It consists of an unique antique Mosaic in the picta dura, upwards of two feet square, and is the celebrated Mosiac of "the fishes sporting on the water," recently discovered in the ruins of the palace of Culcignala, of Pope Leo XII. It is in the highest state of preservation, and the light and shade of the stones are so blended in color as to form a perfect imitation of nature. It has been presented to Sir Edward as a mark of his Holiness's approval of Sir Edward's scientific work illustrative of the Holy Scriptures.

Power of Removal from Office.—When the bill was pending in the first Congress that convened under the Federal Constitution, for the establishment of the State and Treasury Departments, a motion was made by Mr. White, of Virginia, a democrat, to strike out the clause which gives the President the power of removal from office. The debate which ensued is of interest, as showing that the "Simon Pure" democrats of the present day fully maintain the federal doctrines of '89. In making the motion, Mr. White observed that the Constitution had provided specifically only for the removal of the Judges of the Supreme Court—but as it had associated the Senate with the President in the appointment of officers, it was proper that the power of removal should be justly exercised.

Mr. Madison, a federalist then, was opposed to the motion for striking out. The power is a high and important one. When it is considered, said he, that the Chief Magistrate is selected from the mass of the citizens, by the united suffrages of millions of people, notwithstanding the weakness incident to a popular election, he could not suppose that a vicious or bad character would be chosen.

Mr. Gerry was in favor of the motion. He was for a strict adherence to the Constitution, and he contended that no construction of that would warrant delegating such a power to the executive.

Mr. Jackson, of Georgia, (a democrat,) was convinced of the necessity of energy in the Executive, but he was sure the liberties of the people deserved equal attention and care. He dreaded the dangers to which this power would expose us. It would establish a fatal system of influence in the government.

Mr. Page, of Virginia, (a democrat,) asserted that the power contained in itself the seeds of royal prerogative. If the President might take a man from the head of a department without assigning a reason, he might as well be vested with a power of taking away his existence. The idea was not consonant to the principle of a free government, where no man ought to be condemned unheard. He would rather suffer for a time the mischief arising from the administration of a bad officer, than to see a dangerous prerogative vested in the Chief Magistrate, which might lead to despotism.

Mr. Madison replied. Can we suppose, said he, that a President of the United States, elected for four years only, and dependent on the popular voice, will presume wantonly to dismiss a meritorious and virtuous officer from his service? It was an abuse of power which exceeded his imagination and of which he could form no rational conception.

Old Roger Sherman of Connecticut was the only federalist that advocated the motion to strike out. The exercise of the power of removal from office in England, said he, has swallowed up all the rights and privileges of that nation. By restricting the President in the power of appointing and removing, the liberties of the people will be more effectuallyy secured.

Fisher Ames replied to Mr. Sherman, but it is unnecessary to quote further from the debate. The motion was lost, the federalists voting against it. It appears conclusively that parties have completely changed sides since those days, supposing it to be true as asserted in the Jackson papers, that their party is the only democratic party now in existence. They sustain the Executive in exercising, with a vengeance, the power of punishing a man for opinion's sake. It was not so in the days of undefiled democracy.—Boston Atlas.

The Sweet Blade Bone.—When Charles II. wished to buy up Andrew Marvell, he sent to the patriot, Lord Danby, the treasurer, with an earnest of the purchase money. His Lordship was the bearer of a thousand guineas, and having found Marvell at his lodging, a second floor in a court on the Strand, the golden offer was made. Hereupon, we are told, Marvell turned to his servant—"What had I for dinner, yesterday?" "A shoulder of mutton, sir." "And what do you allow me to day?" "Part of it hashed." "And to morrow, my lord Danby," said Marvell, "I shall have the sweet blade bone broiled." His lordship descended the staircase with the thousand guineas, and Andrew Marvell remained unbought.

An Irish Beauty.—"Who is that very handsome woman opposite to us?" said Lord Albany: "she might make one forget dinner and supper too." "That lady," said Lady Oriel, looking at her through her glass, "is the wife of our most popular writer, and is remarkably beautiful; features, complexion, expressions, all are faultless. Mr. Desmond pointed her out to me the other evening as one of the very few perfect specimens now to be seen of a beauty peculiar to Ireland; hair like the wing of the raven seen with the sun's rays full on it, and skin, white as the driven snow, with eyes of heaven's own blue. The lady comes of an ancient Irish race, and belies not her blood, which sends that mantling rose tint to her cheeks, "as if she blushed because she is too fair." —The Repealers.

OBITUARY.

To the long roll of departed Patriots and Sages, who were employed in public trusts during the infancy of our country, this week furnishes, towards the close of the record, the venerable name of EGBERT BENSON, at the age of 87 years. He had resided in this village the last eleven years of his life, and died here on Saturday evening, the 24th instant.

Though Judge Benson was wanting in the "one thing needful" to domestic comfort, he has passed through old age always appearing tranquil and happy. For without having had a wife or child to devide his attention from the cares of state, his pleasant disposition and many good and amiable traits of mind endeared his family intercourse. During some of the last years of his life, under the enfeebling marks or age, he has furnished a few occasional pithy and peculiar thoughts for this paper. A year or two ago, he directed the publication of the Epistles translated into English to correspond with the Dutch version. His Memoir, read before the Historical Society in 1815, was published in this village in 1825; and he has given a number of other publications from the press, at different times.

Judge Benson was the last survivor of the Provincial Congress of this state, which assembled in April 1775, previous to the battle of Lexington.—He was Representative from this state to the first American Congress of 1781, and by his death, JAS. MADISON is now left alone, the last surviving member of that illustrious body. Judge Benson has also served this state as Attorney General, and as one of the Judges of the Supreme Court. He was chief Judge of the second District of the U. States under the Judiciary Act. He was familiarly known to Washington throughout the Revolution, and was on intimate terms with Schuyler, Van Schaick, Hamilton, Jay, Steuben, M'Dougal, King, Elsworth, Strong, Ames, and Cabot. His father's dwelling originally stood in front of where the Fulton Bank now stands, in the city of New York. When about six years old he went to a Dutch school at the corner of Marketfield and Broad-streets, and was taught the catechism in the Dutch language.

Among Judge Benson's recollections he has stated some singular customs of the old Dutch Church—(for Judge Benson was a sound Christian, as well as Statesman)—of making the collections in a bag, with a bell to give notice of the approach of the deacon; and of an hour glass near the Clerk to ascertain the length of the sermon, always limited to one hour,

Judge Benson remembered the line of Palisadoes across the Island from its point on the East River from James' Slip to its point on the North River at the foot of Warren street, with its gates and block house erected in 1746, for a defence against the French and Indians from Canada—and of a field of barley growing upon the west side of Broadway, as far south as the palisadoes—the space between which and the present Fulton street, was known as the King's Farm. He remembered when the site of Collumbia College was a race course; and when the first lamps were placed in the city.

He was at the opening of St. George's Church; and assisted in planting the row of trees, now growing in front of Columbia College, nearest the building.

His interment took place from his late residence in this village, on Monday, in manner and form corresponding with his own particular directions. —Long Island (Java) Farm.

More Harmony.—We have understood that Ellis Lewis, Esq., has directed a prosecution for libel to be instituted against the author of the publication in the last Lycoming Chronicle, signed "A Free citizen of the 8th Judicial District."

The following anecdote of the late Chief Justice HENDERSON, of North Carolina, is taken from the Carolina Watchman:

"In forming the Jackson and Van Buren Ticket in North Carolina, last fall, Chief Justice Henderson was nominated as one of the Electors. He immediately wrote to the citizens who had designated him, that he thought that appointment, or any other interference with politics, inconsistent with the sacred trust with which he was invested, and he accordingly declined."

Extracts from the Philadelphia Market, ending on Saturday evening, September 7, 1833—Collected for the United States Gazette, from actual sales.

COTTON—The import of cotton for the past week amounts to 117 bales from New Orleans, 253 from Savannah, and 75 do. from Petersburgh, and one from Charleston. Total, 446 bales. We note sales of 180 bales of inferior Tennessee cotton at 13 1-2 cts.; 38 bales do. at 15 1-2 a 16 cts,, and 15 bales fine Alabama at 17 1-2 cts. on 60 days and 4 mths. cr.; a small parcel of Uplands at 17 cents, and 120 bales New Orleans at 16 1-2 cts.; several small parcels of different descriptions have been taken at quotations. Since our last report, advices from Liverpool have been received to the 8th August, there was less activity in that market than there had been for several weeks previous. The sales amounted to 17,000 bales. Ordinary and middling qualities of Uplands had given way 1-4 per lb.; they were quoted at 9 1-2 a 11 3-4*d* stg. per lb.

COFFEE.—There has arrived in all this week 3,342 bags of coffee, of different descriptions.—The sales, as far as reported, amount to 180 bags Rio at terms not reported, and another parcel at 12 3-4 cts., 4 months, and 430 bags same kind, by auction, at 12 1-2 a 13 cts., on 60 days, and 4 and 6 mths. cr.

FLOUR.—In consequence of the continued low state of the neighboring streams, the supply of fresh flour during the past week has not been more than equal to the demand for export and city consumption; the stock of old in market is estimated at about 8,000 bbls. The sales of the week, as far as reported, amount to upwards of 3,500 bbls., at from $5 75 a $6, the latter price having been paid for upwards of 2,600 bbls; the market closing on Saturday with the sale of 650 at that price; 100 bbls. old stock was sold early in the week at $5 50.—The sales of superfine flour on the Schuylkill side have been very limited, a few parcels having been sold at from $5 75 a $6, the latter being the current price on Friday evening; 400 bbls. rye flour has been sold in all the week, at from $3 75 a $3 68 3-4; the last price was paid for 250 bbls. late in the week; no sales of corn meal in hhds.; a lot of barrels is reported to have been sold at $3 31 1-4.

SUGAR.—The sugar market has been quite calm, and but few sales made—the imports of the week amount to 2,824 boxes, and 82 bbls.

WOOL.—The operations in wool have been very heavy, and prices looking upwards, the following sales have been reported since our last review—35,000 lbs. pulled wool, at our highest quotations; 10,000 lbs. half fleece at 62 3-4 a 87 1-2 cts.; 5,000 lbs. tub washed common at 43 1-2 cts.; 5,000 lbs. No. 2 3-4 blood at 56 cts., and 10,000 various qualities at quotations —20,000 lbs. Buenos Ayres Wool, at prices not transpired—and 80 bales Austrillian wool at terms not made known; 1,600 lbs. unwashed wool at 28 to 35 cts.; 2,900 lbs. lambs' wool, terms not made known, and several other parcels at quotations.

DOCTOR J. B. ROSE,
DENTIST,
(LATE OF REGENT STREET, LONDON,)

RESPECTFULLY informs the inhabitants of Pittsburgh and its vicinity, that he has taken an office, No. 80 Third street, next door to Dr. Burrell, where he performs all operations on the Teeth and Gums, in a style not to be surpassed.

☞ Natural and Artificial Teeth set in the best manner, and at the most reasonable charges.—Also—Porcelain Teeth, from a single one to a whole set.

On the first appearance of Tarter or Scurvy, Teeth should always be cleansed, as the corrosion of the tarter will, in a short time, reach the roots of the Teeth, and they will eventually fall out—when, by attending to them in season, they might be restored, at a trifling expense, to their original beauty.

The operation of Plugging and Filing the Teeth, when decayed, is so truly important that it is impossible to recommend it too earnestly to the attention of the public. Thousands of the most useful Teeth, which otherwise, on account of their painfulness, would be sacrificed by extraction, may thus be preserved for many years. Doctor R., convinced that he can render benefits beyond all price to those who need his assistance, will wait upon families at their residence, if requested, and Teeth brought to a Pearl White at one sitting.

☞ As Dr. R. intends to remain in town but a short time, as early a call as convenient is advisable.

Dr. R. has for sale the British Antisceptic Dentrifice. This elegant Tooth Wash, with a very little use, eradicates the Scurvy in Gums, and prevents the accumulation of Tarter, which not only blackens, but loosens the Teeth, and accelerates their decay; removes the causes of offensive breath, preserves the healthiness of the Gums, and renders the Teeth beautifully white. Price 50 cents per Bottle.

LAW LIBRARY, TO BE EDITED BY
Thomas Sergeant & John C. Lowber, Esqs.

IT is the object of this publication, to furnish gentlemen of the bar, with the most important British elementary treatises upon Law, in a form which will render them far less expensive than works of this description have hitherto been. To gentlemen residing at a distance from the principal cities, the advantages of this publication will be made apparent. The very low price at which it will be afforded, and the facility with which important works, in the periodical form, can be transmitted by mail, are the attractions upon which it will depend for public favor.

The selection of the works, to be embraced in this collection, is confided to the gentlemen above named, already widely and favorably known to the profession. It will be understood that it forms no part of the plan to admit original communications, or to give the work in any degree the character of a journal. Distinct in its design, it cannot interfere with any existing periodical, nor is it intended at any time to depart from our present plan, which is to reprint British elementary treatises, suited to the business and practice of this country, in a more cheap and convenient form than has ever yet been done. For this purpose the proprietor will receive from his agent in London, at the earliest date, every important publication as it issues from the press.

The series commenced with Theobald's 'Practical Treatise on the Law of Principal and Surety, particularly with relation to Mercantile Guaranties, Bills of Exchange, and Bail Bonds," 1 vol. 8vo. London, 1832. The English cost of this work is $3 75. The entire work is included in one number of the "Library," and to subscribers will be furnished at the very low price of 83 cents.—A title page will be printed for each work upon its completion.

The second number contains 'A Treatise on the Statutes of Limitation,' by William Blanshard, Esq., of the Inner Temple, complete, and the greater part of Wilkinson's Treatise on the 'Limitation of Actions.' The third number, which completes the first volume of the Law Library, contains the remainder of Wilkinson, and A Treatise, complete, on the Law Distresses, by James Bradby, a new edition, with additions, by John Adams.

The number for October, which will be the first of the second volume, will contain part of Shelford's 'Practical Treatise on the Law concerning Lunatics, Idiots, and Persons of unsound mind—With an Appendix of the Statutes of England, Ireland, and Scotland, relating to such persons, and Precedents and Bills of Costs.' London, 8vo. 1833. This work, together with Watson's 'Treatise on the Law relating to the Office and Deputy of Sheriff; comprising the whole of the Duties, Remunerations, and Liabilities of Sheriffs,' &c. &c. will be completed in the early numbers of the Library. The English cost of these works is 20 dollars, and will be included in about four numbers of the Law Library.

The English cost of the works comprised in the first three numbers of the Library, was $14 25. They are furnished to our subscribers for $2 50.

The 'Law Library' will be published in monthly numbers, royal octavo, of about 200 pages, at $10 per annum, payable in advance, and will be sent by mail to any part of the United States. It is unnecessary to enlarge upon the advantages of the plan of this publication—they will be apparent to all. For the small sum required for it, there will be annually included in its pages, works which would cost the purchaser, if procured in the usual way, from forty to fifty dollars. The names of the editors (well known to the American bar) are securities for adequate editorship. No work will be reprinted that will not be valuable to every lawyer, wherever his residence in the United States may be, and no expense will be spared on the part of the proprietor to render his publication in every respect worthy of extensive circulation.

Mechanics' Magazine, and Register of Improvements and Inventions. To the Mechanics of the United States---In this populous and enlightened country, almost every description of persons can obtain knowledge and amusement connected with their peculiar pursuits, through the medium of the Journal or Magazine, especially devoted to their interests. The Theologian, the Farmer, the Philosopher, the Sportsman, and even the Plough Boy, has each his Journal, where he can find a record of the passing events of the day, connected with his peculiar avocations and recreations. Hitherto, the Mechanics (who form a large and most important portion of the community) have had no Journal, to which they could turn, with the certainty of finding that information they desire, no periodical of which they could say: 'This is ours, and for us.' In the hope that the attempt to supply such a want at a price so reasonable as to be within the reach of all, will meet with your active support, the subscriber proposes to publish, on the first day of each month, a Mechanics' Magazine. It will contain a well digested selection of the most useful and interesting articles in the London Mechanics' Magazine, London Register of Arts and Sciences, Repertory of Inventions, Library of Useful Knowledge, Journal of the Franklin Institute, and other works, connected with the arts and manufactures, published in this country and in Europe, accompanied with numerous and well executed Engravings. Its pages will be open for the communications of all, and especially for those of the practical artisan, to whose interest it will be particularly devoted. The Mechanics' Magazine will contain, also, a due portion of the occurrences of the month, Scientific and Literary Reviews of Books, Anecdotes, Economical Receipts, Reports of the state of Mechanics' Institutions, and other Scientific Societies in this state and other countries. To be published monthly. Each succeeding number will contain 64 pages, handsomely printed, and stitched in a neat cover. Six numbers will form a volume, for which an index and title page will be supplied, and also a Portrait of some distinguished Mechanic, as a Frontispiece. Terms, $3 per annum, in advance.

DOCTOR ROBERT'S
☞WELCH MEDICAMENTUM.☜

FOR the cure of Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Jaundice, Cholic, Fever and Ague, Dysentery, Headach, Loss of Appetite, Flatulence, Hypochondria, Hysterics, Dropsical Complaints, and Heartburn, It also prevents all Bilious disorders, and removes habitual Costiveness, Asthma, Strangury, Gravel, Rheumatism, Gout, and Impurities of the Blood.

A person who uses this Medicamentum will not require the use of the lancet, or any means of the healing art. It restores and revives the animal spirits, invigorates the system, removes nervous tremors, obtunds rheumatic and anthritic pains, and prevents their return. It cleanses the stomach of all morbid humors, which cause indigestion, acidities, headach, and lowness of spirits; cures all bilious disorders, and all cholics of the stomach and bowels, almost immediately; inspires cheerfulness; gives comfort to the dropsical; takes away palpitation of the heart; gives circulation to the blood; restores bloom to the sallow or sickly cheek, and plumpness to the meagre habit; purges without pain, and banishes all cause of fever of every kind. It acts on the stomach, that great reservoir of the human system, a diseased state of which causes all diseases. No alteration in the usual habits of life is required, but the abstaining from distilled ardent spirits.

CERTIFICATE,
From Rev. Derick Lansing, D. D., Pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church in Utica.
Utica, Jan. 6, 1830.

To Dr. Hitchcock.—Dear Sir: I have always been one of the number of those who have placed little confidence in nostrums or specifics, and for this reason, although I saw your advertisement of the Welch Medicamentum, I could not bring my mind to consent to use it. My sufferings, from indigestion, during the past summer, were so severe, as materially to affect my comfort, and my capacity for usefulness. I have reason to thank you, sir, that, on hearing of the state of my health, you kindly sent me your Medicamentum. I have taken it faithfully, and with entire success. I have not been visited with one of those turns of distress, which before were weekly periodical, since I began to take your valuable medicine. Could I receive the same relief which I have hitherto experienced, on condition of taking it for life, I should cheerfully comply with such condition. Your's, very truly, D. C. LANSING.

ANTI-DYSPEPTIC ELIXER.

ONE of the most agreeable and efficacious Medicines ever discovered for the permanent cure of those chronic states of derangement of the stomach, constituting that miserable disease called Dyspepsia.

The basis of this Elixer is vegetables, and perfectly innocent in its operation; it destroys that sour state of the stomach, the instant it is taken, and stops the morbid secretion, by giving strength to the muscular fibre of that important organ, by which means the peristaltic motion of the intestines is increased, and the costiveness obviated; a new action is given to the system, which puts an end to a train of distressing nervous sensations.

Another form of the disease in which the Elixer is admirably calculated to relieve, is the decline of fever, where the stomach will not bear the ordinary strengthening medicines indicated in such cases, it has the surprising effect of giving vigor, and restoring the natural secretions of the body, without increasing the febrile state. Not the least danger is to be apprehended from exposure to cold, while under the use of this medicine, nor will it interrupt necessary employment of the patient a single hour.

☞A number of cases of cures performed by the Anti-Dyspeptic Elixer in the vicinity of Pittsburgh can be given.

GEO. W. CARPENTER'S
COMPOUND SYRUP OF LIVERWORT,

A SAFE and Valuable Medicine for Coughs, Spitting of Blood, Consumption, and Liver Complaints.

Most of the medicines made use of for the above diseases are of a stimulating nature, composed generally of Resins and Balsams, in alcoholic solutions, which, although sometimes giving temporary relief, in almost every instance where they are freely used, aggravate the disease, and reduce the strength of the patient.

This article possesses superior advantages over these preparations, its action being of a tonic, invigorating and strengthening nature, thus overcoming the disease by promoting expectoration, and gradually increasing the strength of the patient, and thus, without being attended with any unpleasant effects: it also agrees with the stomach, in all cases, and is a pleasant medicine to take.

PATENT PLANING MACHINE.—The right to use this valuable machine, invented and patented by William Woodworth, and known as Woodworth's Patent Planing Machine, may be obtained on application to the subscriber for the counties of Allegheny, Butler, Beaver, Washington, Green, Fayette, Somerset, Cambria, Indiana, Jefferson, Clearfield, M'Kean, Warren, Venango, Mercer, Crawford, and Erie, in the State of Pennsylvania. The whole of Indiana, except the counties of Floyd, Clark, Jefferson, Dearborn, and Switzerland. The whole of the state of Illinois, and the territory of Michigan. Rights to use the machine in that part of the United States, named above, will be sold by the single county or in larger districts. As it is presumed that no one will purchase without seeing the machine at work, a description of it is deemed unnecessary. Should any person, however, wish to purchase, and find it inconvenient to visit the places where it is in operation, a machine will be furnished, warranted to plane, tongue and groove, and bring to an exact width and thickness, a white pine board of 12 feet long, and of any width from 1 to 14 inches, in one minute and ten seconds, or an oak board of the same dimensions in 2 minutes and 10 seconds. Machines may be seen at work in the cities of New Orleans, Washington, Philadelphia, New York, Boston, and others at the south and east, at Wheeling, Virginia, and at the saw mill of Messrs. Irwin & Herron, in this city.

Persons desiring to purchase will have the certificates of scientific and practical men who have seen it at work, in the different places in which it has been put up, forwarded to them. They give their opinion as to the great value of the invention, state the time they have seen boards dressed by this machine, and describe the quality of the work as compared with that performed by hand labor.
